HAYWARD CITY SERVICES LURE 2000 HOMES FROM TOWNSHIP

The simple arithmetic of why subdivisions prefer cities to rural areas was explained Monday night to a well-attended meeting of the Decoto Coordinating Council.

Dennis Jordan, vice-president of the Oliver Rousseau Corp.; and James A. Kennedy, attorney for Goforth Construction Co. agreed their big tracts — aggregating nearly 2000 homes—will annex to Hayward this month because:

1. The Citizens Utilities Water Company, which serves Decoto, had neither pipes nor water to supply such large projects.

2. The Union-Sanitary District — at least in the case of the Rousseau tract — is too far distant, and sewage would have to be pumped 10 feet uphill; moreover, cost of mains would not be repaid the subdivider as it is in Hayward.

Decoto and Hillview Crest spokesmen declared almost to a man they oppose Hayward's invasion of the Township to gobble up $30,000,000 worth of homes. And Firechief Roland Bendel warned:

"They'll be after our industries next. Hayward will take a little strip where they can get the gravy and leave us the rest.

"The subdividers should wait until the people move in and then let them decide if they want to be in a city or not."

Public hearings will be held in Hayward September 21 on annexing the tracts to the city. Both have requested it.

Jordan said the Rousseau subdivision will contain 1200 homes in the $12,000-to-$18,000 class, with community swimming pool and shopping center. Kennedy explained that in the Treeview tract, to be built by Goforth:

". . . We felt because of the time element involved, we could get sewage and water better in a package deal from Hayward — and they wouldn't furnish them without annexation."

Several Hillview Cresters complained that Hayward water costs them as much as $30 a month. Jordan asserted that when the Rousseau tract annexes to Hayward, next-door Hillview Crest will be able to annex too if it wishes, "and then you can cut your water rates in half and the sewage charge will disappear."

Said Kennedy, Santa Clara County communities arrange utilities in advance to attract subdividers — "and if you can offer them an attractive proposition, such as Hayward does, then you'll get them."

School Trustee William S. Davis advised "raising hell to keep Hayward from gobbling up what is ours," and Bendel concluded:

"If they annex, the people here should make a pledge never to trade in Hayward."

BRIBE OFFER ENDS IN JAIL FOR GAL

A portly, slacks-clad Roseville brunette is in custody today for investigation of charges she offered a sheriff's captain $5000 to permit her to run a house of ill-fame in Alvarado.

Held at Santa Rita prison farm is Millie Mayse, 37, alias Terry Thompson of Roseville.

Sheriff's Capt. Richard E. Condon of the Washington Township substation said the woman phoned him late Monday for an appointment to discuss the matter.

He told her to come to his office, which she did. Condon said she "offered to take care" of him, financially, if he allowed her to open a four-girl "house" in Alvarado.

He then arrested Miss Mayse.

The captain declined to discuss further details, but it was reliably reported that he had been offered a $5000 bribe. Miss Mayse is said to have been staying in Alvarado for the past week. She is slated to be charged Friday.

IRVINGTON SCHOOL OPENING DELAYED

Irvington's school opening has been delayed one week by contractor troubles with the new Elementary School Annex.

Supt. Gus Robertson said today the first day of school now will be September 13 instead of September 7, as in the rest of the Township's halls of learning.

"We have too many pupils to operate without those 10 classrooms," explained Robertson.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY?

Freeway Chances Dim In '55-6 As Alameda Tube Wins State O.K.

Odds appeared against the state budgeting any construction funds for the Eastshore Freeway through Washington Township this year, following a meeting of the State Highway Commission last Friday in Sacramento.

A Township delegation was on hand to stress need for the final 14-mile link between Mt. Eden and Warm Springs.

But the Freeway had to take a back seat to a second tube under Alameda Estuary.

The commission announced it would grant $500,000 for rights-of-way purchases for the tube. This seemed to foreshadow a big share of the county's gas-tax funds for 1955-6 going to build it.

One report was that the commission will earmark $5,000,000 this year for the $15,000,000 job — the balance to be allocated during the following two years.

Alameda County's entire State highway allocation has averaged about $12,000,000 a year. A considerable sum remains to be spent to finish the Freeway through downtown Oakland to the Bay Bridge. Thus South County freeway funds seem to have little chance for awhile.

Township delegates were unanimous in the feeling, expressed prior to the commission hearing, that they did not want the new tube given priority at the expense of every other project — including the Freeway.

On hand for the session were Manuel Hidalgo, Decoto; Arthur and Gordon Cotton of Newark; William Short, Dan Irwin and Robert Furrer of Centerville; Elmer Marks and Stuart Nixon of Niles.

They sat quietly while Supervisor Harry Bartell, chairman of the county's Highway Advisory Committee, recited the committee's eight recommended projects, including the tube and Freeway — projects between which the committee had declined to choose for special pri-

SPRING GONE FROM WARM SPRINGS' ROAD BY SPRING?

Things will be smoother next spring along the Freeway "roller-coaster" near Warm Springs.

This was the prediction in Sacramento last week of a State Highway Commission spokesman.

The highway's washboard effect, he said, is caused by moisture which got under the ends of the concrete slabs during construction, preventing them from settling after the heat of the day, like the rest of the slab. A hard subsoil has slowed distribution of the moisture.

"Research engineers have been testing the stretch," the spokesman assured this newspaper. "They bored holes in the middle of one slab, and poured water in. Next morning, the entire slab was flat."

By spring, moisture will be evenly distributed under the length of the slabs, the highway official said he has been guaranteed by the researchers, and the controversial stretch will be smooth.

COCKFIGHT RAID NETS 14 ARRESTS

Fourteen farm workers were arrested Sunday in a sheriffs' raid on a cockfight which drew spectators from all over northern California.

Scene of the arrests was a ranch on Whipple Road three miles west of Decoto. Eight sheriff's officers led by Lieutenant Joseph Sheehan staged the raid.

The fourteen booked were inside the fighting enclosure, Sheehan said. Another 100 persons gathered outside were not arrested.

Four were booked for conducting the fights. They were Carlos Burgos, 43, a foreman on the ranch; Narciso Bergonia, 54, of Sunnyvale; Bennie Galban, 42, of Half Moon Bay, and Eulalio De La Cruz, 48, of San Jose.

WATER DISTRICT PLANS UNCERTAIN, ENGINEER REPORT STILL LACKING

Future plans of the Alameda County Water District are foggy at the moment, it appeared after a meeting of district directors last week.

The directors made the uncertainty apparent in responding to an invitation by the Niles Chamber of Commerce. That body asked a district representative to appear at next Tuesday's chamber session to outline "future plans, and how tax money is being spent." Director W. D. Patterson declared:

"We don't know what our plans are, because we don't have an engineering report yet."

Chairman E. M. Grimmer agreed, saying "we haven't anything about extension of our mains, although we've had a consulting engineer (T. C. Binkley) for over a year. All we've done is get into two well fights."

General Manager Matt Whitfield Jr. demurred that planning for new reservoirs is in process, and pointed out that one reason for delay is lack of directors' policy on such issues as annexing Warm Springs to the district.

"Let Warm Springs fight their own problems," retorted Director Manuel Bernardo. "We have plenty of our own. We shouldn't go outside the district."

The board authorized Whitfield to negotiate a contract with Conway & Culligan for purchase of two wells and two lots in the new Irvington Square tract. Whitfield said today he has offered $5000. The subdividers had intended to set up their own water system, but were dissuaded when county officials refused sanction.

The directors also voted to pay $750 for a lease on the controversial Soito well, near Newark, which a farmer lawsuit recently prompted them to abandon. The lease runs until next April.

They also discussed drilling another well on Thornton Avenue, in order to save $1400 extra costs per month now incurred through substitution of Hetch-Hetchy pipeline water — which has to be purchased — for the well water.

Promoter's Remark Causes Vote Switch; Sends Issue Back To Plan Commission

Protective zoning for Centerville, an eyelash away from victory, was delayed again last week, this time for several months, because a shopping-center promoter told the Supervisors that a county planning commissioner quizzed him about leasing a liquor store in his development.

Harold Frank of Oakland made the remark regarding Commissioner John Gardella of Livermore. Frank said he had been turned down for commercial zoning at Thornton and Blacow Road after he replied to Gardella's question at a hearing that he had "already leased the liquor concession."

Gardella is in the liquor business. Frank did not charge that the incidents were connected, but Supervisor Kent Pursel was angered at Frank's mention of the commissioner. He cast the deciding vote to return the entire Centerville zoning issue to the commission for a new public hearing.

Pursel said after the meeting in Oakland that he considered Frank's remark "below the belt", and that he wanted further hearings "to give Gardella a chance to clear himself."

In Livermore, Gardella said he does not recall asking Frank anything about the liquor store, either at the hearing or elsewhere. "Our records will show I didn't," he predicted.

In getting the postponement, Frank achieved at least his stated purpose: to have the issue of the Thornton-and-Blacow shopping center threshed out again in public.

At Thursday's session, Supervisor Harry Bartell once more took up the cudgels for Frank Pursel, Chairman Chester E. Stanley and Supervisor George Janssen appeared to lean toward the arguments of Centerville representatives. They pleaded for action saying (1) the town has been trying to get protective zoning for five years, and (2) Frank could apply later for rezoning on the 26-acre site he has optioned, if it is zoned residential as planned.

Bartell and Supervisor Cliff Wixson spoke for the new hearing. On a vote, Janssen voted against it, but when Pursel's bombshell exploded, Stanley said he saw the futility of fighting, and went along with the majority. What happens now is:

1. The planning commission sets a public hearing on zoning the entire Centerville School District.
2. The commission refers its recommendations to the Supervisors.
3. The Supervisors make any changes they desire, then refer the issue back to the commissioners.
4. The commissioners refer it again to the Supervisors with recommendations, which the

Cityhood Bid By Centerville CC Follows Zoning Rebuff From Supes

Raging at asserted rude treatment by county officers, members of the Centerville Chamber of Commerce agreed Monday to seek help from the League of California Cities in obtaining self-government for Centerville and any other local communities that care to join the movement.

Spurring the action was last week's vote of the Alameda County Supervisors which once more delayed protective zoning for the Centerville area. After six months of hearings here and in Oakland, the issue was opened wide again by referring it once more to the County Planning Commission.

Niles' Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to join Centerville in its study of self-rule.

President Howard Mitchell was empowered to name a committee of three to work with the Centerville chamber.

Niles members appeared to favor cityhood with their immediate neighbors.

Members were caustic in criticism of their own supervisor, Chester Stanley of Livermore, who voted to re-refer the matter. They voted a letter of censure against the board, excepting Supervisor George Janssen of Hayward, who voted for the zoning.

"We'll never get anywhere until we get our own government," declared Eugene Manning.

Chamber president Bill Short promised to name a committee next week to carry out studies of incorporation for Centerville. Secretary LeRoy Broun said Irvington and Niles also have expressed interest in cityhood, and

BUILDING PERMITS FROZEN PENDING ZONE DECISION

County building permits for the entire Centerville area were frozen Tuesday, as County Supervisors moved to stop promoters from "jumping the gun" while the county rehashes zoning for Centerville.

The emergency ordinance prohibits the County Building Inspector from issuing construction permits for 30 days. The motion was by Supervisor Kent Pursel of Berkeley.

Prompting the move was Thursday's rumpus over whether to let an Oakland realtor put a seven-acre shopping center at Thornton and Blacow Roads. Now the realtor is prohibited from starting construction.

Four supervisors voted for the "freeze". Supervisor Harry Bartell, who had sparked the referral to the planning commission abstained.

SCOUT HUT DRIVE ENDS SUCCESSFUL

This word came today from Val Tuchsen, chairman of the campaign's finance committee. The drive was sponsored by the Lions Club.

James Logan, building chairman, said work will start at once on the 24x60-foot hut behind the Centerville Grammar School. Labor is to be donated.

RETIRES AFTER 25 YEARS WITH COUNTY

Retiring after 25 years of employment at the Alameda County Corporation Yard, Niles, is Tony Miller of 333 J Street.

His rest period started September 1. When asked what he was going to do, Tony smiled and replied, "I will have the most beautiful garden in Niles next spring."

Mr. and Mrs. Miller have lived on J street since their marriage and have two children, Bill Rocha and Mrs. Mamie Andrade; also four grandchildren and one great granddaughter.

On Tuesday morning a beautiful leather chair and footstool were presented to Miller by his fellow employees along with shells for his hunting trips. Tony thanks his fellow workers for their gifts.

Holy Rosary Church Sponsors Fiesta

Decoto's Holy Rosary Church groups are sponsoring a fiesta September 11 and 12 at the church hall, according to Al DuCharme, chairman.

The two-day affair will include booths, supper, dancing and prizes.

The church groups also are presenting a dance September 18 at the Newark Pavilion, says Ed DeClerq, publicity chairman. The public is invited.

At Pocahontas Confab

Attending the State Convention of Pocahontas at Stockton last week were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eacret of Niles, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kahler and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright of Newark and Mrs. Beth Andrus. Mrs. Andrus and Mrs. Wright registered as delegates from Klatawa Council No. 251.

On Tuesday the Eacrets and Kahlers had dinner at Pocahontas Association's meeting in Stockton. On Wednesday Helen Kahler and Katherine Eacret attended the High Jinks and attending the Raising of Chiefs were Mr. and Mrs. Kahler, Howard Kahler, Mrs. Marie Wright, Mrs. Mary Killey, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eacret and daughter, Mrs. Pat Moran.

Mrs. Beth Andrus was appointed to the scrap book committee and Mrs. Marie Wright to the State Veterans Board. Mrs. Marie Wright also accepted a $30 check which was presented to Klatawa Council for winning in membership. They spent five days at the convention.

'CURED CANCER' CLUB FORMING

A club which will extend help and hope for cancer patients is in the process of formation near Washington Township.

Aiming to found the "Cured Cancer Club,' is Everett Silver, 1719 Rex Road, Hayward, himself a former cancer patient.

Silver is designing the club along principles originated in the Cured Cancer Club of Washington, D.C. Purposes are (1) to educate and lend hope to other cancer sufferers, (2) to cooperate with the American Cancer Society Program, and (3) to promote loans for victims of the widespread disease.

More than a year ago the Hayward man went through a series of major operations. Now he considers himself in good health, although he admits he has another four years to go before his "cure" is final.

Other cured cancer patients interested in helping may contact Silver at LUcerne 1-6540.

Humpty Dumpty Play School Hires Director

Mrs. W. W. Vernon, Piedmont, has been named new director of the Humpty Dumpty Play School in Washington Township, Mrs. George Hoy, president of the Mothers' Club announces.

The nursery school, which is operated in conjunction with the parent education class at the Washington Union High School, is entering its third year of operation.

Mrs. Vernon received her B.A. degree from the University of California in the field of art and education and attended arts and crafts classes at Mills College Summer School. She taught art for two years at the Piedmont Recreation Center.

Her nursery school experience includes participation in the parent-cooperative Piedmont Play School, in which she served as President of the Mothers' Club and was a member of the Board for three years.

She is the mother of three children who attend Piedmont schools.

Mrs. Vernon is replacing Miss Marcia Frantz who has accepted a position with the Ford School in Los Altos.

READERS WRITE US

Editor, Sir:

In the last issue of your paper, your editorial column brought up an article concerning the Chamber of Commerce of one of our towns who spoke up against a proposed modern shopping center on the OUTSKIRTS of the community.

I agree with you in so far as the need for greater business is concerned. Every growing community needs more business to create greater bargaining power. BUT, why build such a modern shopping center on the OUTSKIRTS of town? There is plenty of space right in town to build. It is my belief that we must keep your shopping districts downtown. Keep the people circulating through the town, thereby giving every merchant a chance to do business.

It would be silly to have a clothing store 4 miles from a shoe store, or have a modern eating place for shoppers, miles from the main stores. No one has said that we don't want more business in town. It is just that we want a centrally located shopping center located within the present shopping district. I am a small business man, and I would welcome a store just like mine directly across the street from me. It would increase my business, as well as bringing more people into the town.

What good is a parking lot, and dollar days and other promotions if the stores are scattered all over the township????

Sincerely
A Reader

Supervisor To Attend State Board Meet

County Supervisor Chester E. Stanley attended a meeting of the Board of Directors of the County Supervisors Association of California on September 3, in Sacramento.

The meeting of the county leaders has been called by State President Roger W. Jessup from Los Angeles County, to review the ballot propositions on the November ballot. The directors will analyze them to determine the probable effect on county costs. Several of the ballot proposals if approved will have a marked financial effect on every county.

The county recommendations on the ballot propositions will be made on the basis of whether or not the proposals benefit or hamper efficient local government operations.

Through Supervisor Stanley services on the governing board of the state association, Alameda County joins the counties throughout the state in solving mutual problems.

H. HOOVER SIGNED AT NILES SCHOOL

However they won't be teaching politics or the management of heavyweight champions: Herbert Woodrow Hoover, no relation to the ex-president, will instruct a fourth-and-fifth-grade combination; while Kearns, not the Dempsey mentor, will preside over one of the eighth grades.

WATERMELON FEED SET BY KIWANIS

The Newark Kiwanis Club this week set Saturday, September 11 as the date for a free watermelon feed for kids as a pre-Kids' Day warmup.

Free watermelon will be given to all youngsters by Kiwanians starting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The location for the event will be announced next week by the committee in charge: Bill Allan, Ray Auchard and Bill Gastelum.

The Newark Kiwanis club will sell fresh roasted peanuts on Kids' Day and use all the funds raised by the peanut sale for youth activities.

A variety show, starring Jacque Walker, talented local favorite, was provided by Sam Arnold, program chairman. Jacque did a pantomine and a tap dance routine. Deanna and Wanda O'Mara, baton twirlers for the San Francisco 49ers Baton Corps, performed their specialty; Elaine Pinto of Alvarado played two piano selections and accompanied her vocalist brother, Loren, and Charlene Olson of Niles, accordionist, opened the program.

Next week the Kiwanis club will meet with the San Lorenzo Kiwanis club Tuesday at 7 p.m. at San Lorenzo Villa because of the Labor Day holiday.

Newark Recreation Plans Improvements

Trustees of the Newark Recreation District completed plans to improve the Youth Center property on Ash Street at their last meeting. The property is to be fenced and small children's swing, slide and tetherball court and picnic benches will be installed there.

Lowest estimate of cost of the new drapes for the Community Center was presented by O'Mara Home Furnishings and the board accepted the bid, according to Robert Amaral, secretary.

The Arts and Crafts class under the tutelage of Mrs. Katherine Shepherd of Hillview Crest, has been very successful and a display has been placed in a window at Sears & Houston. The class can accommodate more people and it is hoped that the display will stimulate interest.

RITES HERE FOR MRS. TORQUEMADA

Services were held Monday for Mrs. Paula S. Torquemada, 67, who died at her residence, 103 Ninth Street, Decoto, on August 27.

She was the wife of Antonio Torquemada; mother of Mrs. Teresa Martin, Mrs. Antenette Diaz, Mrs. Josephine George, Miss Mary Torquemada and John Torquemada, all of Decoto, Anthony Torquemada, Jr., of Hayward and Harold Torquemada of Niles; sister of Mrs. Annie Escalona of Warm Springs and Antone Sanchez of Campbell. She is also survived by nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Torquemada was a native of Spain and a member of Sociedad de Sra. Isabel la Catolica of Sunnyvale and Federcion de Sociedades Espanola de Beneficienciadel Estado de California.

Funeral arrangements were by Chapel of the Palms, Centerville. Mass was at Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Church, Decoto, with interment in Holy Ghost Cemetery, Centerville.

Alvarado School Opens Tuesday Too

Same faculty members but about 20 new students are expected at Alvarado Elementary School next Tuesday by Principal Leslie Maffey.

Regular bus schedules will start at once, Maffey says, but no lunches will be served until Wednesday. The school, like all others here, will close Thursday for Admission Day.

An enrollment of 270 is forecast.

NEWARK SPORTSMEN DANCE SEPT. 11

Final plans for the Newark Sportsmen's September 11 dance were concluded at the club's last meeting.

Four new members were introduced: Don Fipps, Lloyd Frades, Angelo Noceti and Bud Morrison. Next regular meeting is September 28.

SUMMER SYMPHONY AT WOODMINSTER

The Summer Symphony concert scheduled for Friday, September 3 in Woodminster Amphitheatre is billed as one of the outstanding musical events of the season.

Appearing as guest artist with the Symphony will be Kathryn Jane DeHaven, coloratura soprano, singing the "Mad Scene" from "Lucia" by Donizetti and "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "Barber of Seville" by Rossini.

The Woodminster Symphony Orchestra will perform under the baton of Dr. Orley See. A program of light classics, will include "Woodland Sketches" by MacDowell, "Le Cid" ballet by Massenet, "Euryanthe Overture" by Weber, and "Symphony No. 4", two movements, by Tschaikowski.

Admission is free. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Centerville Zoning Hits Another Snag

Supervisors can take or reject. Thirty days after they act, the zoning becomes law.

Frank's attorney, Clayton Orr, charged his client was denied a proper hearing, and said he has additional evidence to show the Blacow-Thornton site is a sound one for retail business.

Orr said that at an early planning commission hearing, he was promised time to present his case, but that a final hearing scheduled for May 12 was actually held on May 10 without proper notice, and without his presence.

Cried the attorney:

"Is the (commission) going to make decisions for a chain store and force it to locate in the middle of town and pay the price monopoly demands?"

From Centerville, L. S. Williams, chairman of the chamber of commerce zoning committee, asked an end to the postponements.

"Maybe there are people in Centerville who aren't satisfied with this plan," Williams asserted," but they all want you to freeze zoning so we know where we stand. The longer you wait, the tougher it gets."

Williams used a 2-acre lot he owns on Joseph Street as an example, saying "if the whole matter is re-opened, I'd want my property zoned entirely commercial, instead of just part of it."

Bartell seized on this to taunt Williams with inconsistency.

The Centerville rancher replied:

"I much prefer to get it done now, and to take my chances when the time comes."

He also demanded to know where Frank and his aides were when Centerville held its public hearings on zoning.

Bartell said he "rose to a point of order" that Williams was off the subject. Williams retorted: "I didn't butt in on you!"

Stanley interjected his familiar metaphor that "planning is like a football game — we don't make a touchdown every play, we hope to get five yards," then added:

"But of course if we carry the ball around too long, we could fumble and lose it."

He said he "wouldn't object" to reopening the issue as there are some "large investors, L&V Trucking and Arthur C. Day Co., who want changes," but warned: "We could get into rezoning before we adopt the original map."

However when Planning Director John Thomas recommended going ahead with zoning, then correcting inequities by rezoning, Stanley said: "I agree with that."

Bartell scoffed at the idea that delay would be lengthy or harmful. Said he:

"The Planning Commission is subservient (sic) to us and they'll expedite it if we ask them to. Besides, Alameda County has gone on for 100 years, and 40 or 50 days more won't make any difference."

He said he was voting "to give the people the right to be heard."

Date for the new hearing may be set on September 8, next scheduled meeting of the Planning Commission.

THINGS TO COME...

DECOTO SCHOOLS HIRE 15 TEACHERS NAME NEW AIDES

Fifteen new teachers and the appointment of two new vice-principals were announced today by the Decoto school system.

Regge Minnette will be vice-principal of the Barnard School, while Mrs. Gladys Gause assumes the same job at Hillview Crest.

New teachers are:

HILLVIEW CREST SCHOOL

Mrs. Pauline Heffner, Nebraska State Teachers College, 4th grade; Carl Beisser, Bradley University, 3rd grade; Mrs. Peggy House, Howard College, 2nd grade; Mrs. Florence Tsai, New York University, 2nd grade.

BARNARD SCHOOL

Mrs. Margaret Hendee, S. J. State College, 6th grade; Mr. Leo Shortino, S. J. State College, 7th grade; Mr. Harold Milan, Hardin-Simmons University, 7th grade; Alvin DuCharme, Platteville State Teachers College, 7th grade; Edward Heffner, Nebraska State Teachers College, 8th grade.

DECOTO SCHOOL

Centerville Schools Pool Primary Grades To Dodge Split Sessions

Centerville School District Trustees, in an effort to stay off double sessions for the 1954-55 school year, this week announced some emergency "shifts".

All kindergarten, first, second, and third grades will be placed at the Allen G. Norris School on Thornton Avenue, since practically all the students in the lower grades are transported to and from school. Other grades will attend the Centerville Elementary School on South Main Street with transportation being provided for those where it is necessary, said Supt. Tom Maloney.

The new Allen G. Norris School will have two morning kindergartens, two afternoon kindergartens, three first grades, three second grades, and three third grades.

"In placing all grades in one area it will be possible to have approximately the same number in each classroom which does away with necessity of overcrowding and double sessions," Maloney said.

Trustee Allan E. Walton stated that plans for Glenmoor School have been drawn, have been approved by the State Division of School House Planning, and have been presented to the State Division of Architecture. Construction on first units at Glenmoor should be started in a few months with classrooms being ready for occupancy in September, 1955. Walton stated further that plans for rehabilitation of cafeteria building at the Centerville Elementary School on South Main Street, have been approved by the Division of School House Planning, and are awaiting approval by the State Division of Architecture.

The Trustees' long-range plans are for the Allen G. Norris School to be expanded to a kindergarten through sixth grade school housing 600 students; the Glenmoor Elementary School to be a kindergarten through sixth grade school housing 600 students; the Centerville Elementary School to be a seventh and eighth grade school; and for four other neighborhood kindergarten through sixth grade schools at accessible locations.

Trustees Walton, Mary G. Rodrigues, Claire Lopez, Arthur R. Belshaw, and James R. Meyer, after study and surveys, have under consideration the site for Centerville's fourth school. Tentative plans call for one in the growing Cabrillo Park tract. Builder John Brooks said he will make the site available if requested.

NILES SCHOOL TO HAVE BIG SIGNUP

Niles' elementary school will open September 7 with an anticipated record enrollment, Supt. E. Dixon Bristow predicted today.

New students will register Tuesday, and this will include kindergarten pupils who were not registered last spring. They will use the auditorium for the signup, says Assistant Administrator Edward M. Turner.

Birth certificates or baptismal certificates are required and parents of new pupils are asked to bring immunizations.

The school will run a full day, with cafeteria and bus services as usual.

Teachers are: Isabel Oxborrow and Winifred Enos, kindergarten; Cecelia Turner, Marie Curran and Rose Burgess, first grade; Flora Connor, Ferne Syx and Bonnie Anderson, second grade; Gertrude Keller, LaVerne Dickerson and Mary Woodward, third grade; Eleanor Enos and Helen Williams, fourth grade.

Herbert W. Hoover, fourth-and-fifth combination; Nathan Click and Ruth Murphy, fifth grade; William Kent and Arthur Weil, sixth grade; Roxie Surface and Robert Kirby, seventh grade; Martin Brassil and Jack Kearns, eighth grade.

KIWANIS PEANUT SALE TO MARK 'KIDS DAY'

Progress is being made in the development of plans for the Kids' Day program to be held on Saturday, September 25. The Newark Kiwanis Club will join hundreds of other Kiwanis clubs to complete a program which will fit the theme "Build for Tomorrow."

Gordon Cotton, President of the Kiwanis Club, has announced that Jack MacGregor and Gene Carroll will be co-chairmen of the local Kids' Day observance.

Plans are being made to participate in the Peanuts for Kids' Day fund raising program which is being sponsored by Kiwanis International. MacGregor and Carroll said that every cent which is raised through the local peanut sale will be used locally to benefit the youth of this community.

This summer the Kiwanis club sent two youngsters to summer camp, besides sponsoring many other youth activities such as the Little League Baseball, Kite Contest and Pet Parade.

"It is through fund raising events like the Kids' Day Peanut Sale that the Kiwanis Club is able to support its youth activities program," MacGregor said as he sought public support to make Kids' Day a success.

$500,000 Shopping Center In Mill For Main Street In Centerville

Construction will start in less than 2½ months on a $500,000 14-unit shopping center on Centerville's North Main Street.

This is the promise of Terry Moyer, Oakland realtor, who recently leased a 250-foot frontage opposite Cloverdale Creamery from Mrs. Mary G. Rodrigues.

Moyer said the center will provide parking for 230 cars, and will be designed around a 16,000-foot Lucky Market, for which leases already have been signed.

The property adjoins land purchased by the Bank of America, which shortly will construct a new branch for Centerville. The two projects are not connected.

"We'll be open for business next spring," Moyer predicts.

Other facilities planned for the center include: a restaurant, drug-store, launderette, cleaner, jeweler, beauty salon, ladies', mens', and childrens' apparel stores, hardware - and - variety store, barber shop and three miscellaneous stores.

Construction will be of concrete, Moyer added. Said he:

"This modern, one-stop shopping center will help usher in a tremendous future for the whole Township."

Ladies' Night

The Men's Council of the Newark Presbyterian Church entertained their ladies at a pot luck dinner preceeding their regular meeting last Wednesday at Calvin Hall.

'PARADE' OF HOMES HERE SEPT. 12

Selection of Robert M. Babcock, C.A.L.A., of Oakland as landscape architect for the Alameda Parade of Homes was announced yesterday by John I. Hennessy, chairman of the event.

Landscaping will be installed this week to allow sufficient time for all lawns to attain full growth prior to the September 12 opening date.

The Alameda Parade will be held in Irvington just north of Irvington and is under sponsorship of the Associated Home Builders of the Greater Eastbay.

The exhibition will feature a full city block of new homes with each home being constructed by a different builder.

The Sierra Nevada is the highest mountain range in continental United States.

ority, leaving this to State engineers.

Bartell, who represents Alameda, had approached the Township delegates before the hearing, to ask "unity" on the highway committee's recommendations, stressing that it has been traditional not to ask special priority for any project.

Assemblyman Randall Dickey then rose to speak for the Alameda delegation. He said the present tube "handles more traffic per lane than any route in California," and suggested that the State start buying rights-of-way for a new one, and setting aside money for construction — money which later could be reimbursed, in part, if the tube becomes part of the Southern Crossing project. The tube currently is included in State plans for the South Crossing.

Dickey demanded that State funds be used without delay. He was backed by Alameda's city attorney, who commented that Governor Knight "was stuck in the tube for 30 minutes during his primary campaign," thus awakening him to the problem, adding:

"This is a necessary structure as opposed to those which merely add convenience or highway comfort."

Frank B. Durkee, chairman of the highway commission, hearing no further comments, asked if the entire Alameda County delegation agreed that the Tube should be pushed into the top-priority spot.

Speaking for the Washington Townshippers, Nixon, as chairman of the Township Chamber of Commerce highway committee, demanded to know if construction of the tube now would exclude other "equally important projects," including the Freeway. He pointed out:

1. The South County doesn't oppose the tube.

2. It doesn't want it built if work on other jobs is stopped.

"Four persons — one of them from Alameda — were killed just a week ago on the present two-lane road that connects Oakland and San Jose," he said.

Following a line started earlier by Assemblyman Francis Dunn, Nixon further implied that if Alameda County were to receive its fair share of gas taxes, both Tube and Freeway could be built. Only 87 percent of Alameda County funds at their disposal has been voted this county by the commissioners during the past 5 years.

Durkee replied that the commission "only has so much money to spend," and that it certainly "is committed to finish the Freeway." He did not say when, however, merely "as soon as we can."

At a luncheon following the hearing, highway officials said informally that the Township's best bet this year appears to be allocation of rights-of-way purchase money from a special State fund, which now totals $57,000,000. This money later is charged against the county's allocation.

If rights-of-way acquisitions are completed during the coming year, it might be possible to get construction money for part of the Freeway budgeted next fall, it was hinted. Officially, no money is budgeted for these rights-of-way. However it is reliably reported that some land already is being bought in the North Township.

B. E. Cordeiro Dies

Services were held yesterday for Benjamine Enos Cordeiro, 58, retired Navy man who died August 30 at his residence in Irvington. He was a native of Honolulu, and a veteran of World War I.

He was the husband of Rose Cordeiro; father of Mrs. Mildred Smith and Benjamine E. Cordeiro, Jr. both of Irvington, Mrs. Rose Marie Arnette of Thornville, Mrs. Florence Rodrigues of Sunnyvale, and Mrs. Vivian Villarreal of Irvington.

Funeral arrangements were by Berge Mortuary, Irvington. Mass was said at St. Joseph's Church, Mission San Jose and Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Cook School, Bake Contest At Newark September 9

Renewal of the annually-popular community cooking school, sponsored by the PG&E, appliance dealer associations, and Township newspapers, will take place next Thursday, September 9, in the Newark Pavilion.

This year's school will feature a cake-baking contest for the benefit of the SPRSI, according to President Lilian Costa.

A 1:30 p.m. show will present Ann Cook of International Harvester in a demonstration of electric cooking and home freezing.

At 7 p.m. Esther Day, PG&E home economist, will show local homemakers how to "cook with gas".

Prizes include a $250 dryer and more than $200 in appliances and kitchen ware. Cake-baking contest blanks are at leading local appliance stores.

Centerville 'City'

that "perhaps we could go at it together."

Romeo Brunelli warned against separate-city movement, saying he hopes Washington Township would incorporate as a whole, and "not be all chopped up."

Broun reminded him that the borough form of city government could be instituted, establishing one or more sixth-class cities at first, and leaving the door open for others to come in later.

At the urging of several members, Short directed Broun to write the League of California Cities requesting advice on how to take the first steps toward cityhood.

A report from Short and other members who attended Friday's hearing before the State Highway Commission in Sacramento indicated dissatisfaction with commission policy of allocating funds to Alameda County highways.

The delegation consensus was that apparent decision to build a second Alameda Estuary Tube with State funds, instead of waiting for southern crossing money, may divert the county's share of gas-tax money from the Eastshore Freeway for several years.

Finally, Dr. John Austin reported 29 out of 56 businessmen have signed up to underwrite a merchants' parking lot for 50 cars between Main and Fremont Sts. However, Dr. Austin advised delay in signing a lease on the site until 80 or 90 per cent have signed the contract.

VFW Wins Playoffs

A scrappy VFW club won runnerup honors in the Township Softball League, defeating Cabrillo Park 6-4 on Thursday and 6-2 Monday night.

VFW had previously beaten Quality Meats, 5-3, while Cabrillo was outlasting Warm Springs 4-0 to enter the finals.

Tuesday night Wedgewood's championship aggregation closed an undefeated season with a 4-3, 10-inning win over the league all-stars. Successive singles by Jess Rust and Cas Bibeau broke a deadlock in the top of the 10th for the win.

WEIBEL WINES WIN HONORS

By COL. N. W. ARMSTRONG

Weibel and Son of Mission San Jose have captured 12 high awards at the 1954 Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona.

Weibel Wines won six Gold Medals, six Silver Medals and one Bronze Medal. Gold Medals were awarded Weibel for three types of Champagne and also for Black Muscatel wine and Pinot Chardonnay. Silver medals were won for best entries of Vermouth (dry); Burgundy, Grey Reisling, Sweet Sherry and for two entries of bulk champagne. The bronze medal was awarded for Weibel's Extra Sec champagne.

The Sixth Gold Medal was awarded for Sparkling Malvasia — one of the newer and more popular members of the champagne family.

At the California State Fair in Sacramento where wine judging was recently completed, Weibel won five top awards for best Sparkling Malvasia, Pink Champagne, Sherry, and Cocktail Sherry and Solera Sweet Sherry. Weibel also captured a bronze medal for Dry Sauterne, the parent wine of all Alameda County.

Back in 1797 when the Padres planted their first wine grapes in California the vineyards were started at Mission San Jose. The late Governor Leland Stanford enlarged the vineyards as did the late "Race Horse" Kelly of Chicago, once the owner of the presently world-famous Weibel Champagne Vineyards.

Rudolph E. Weibel originally started in the wine business at Neuchatel, Switzerland, where the writer recently visited whilst on a European trip.

Possessed with a background of wine making as practiced in the old country Weibel came to the United States some seventeen years ago and investigated many locations and properties from the Canadian border as far south as Mexico. He cast his lot at Mission San Jose in Alameda County and says that he never has regretted his decision. Mission San Jose has an even climate, plenty of water and is recognized as one of the finest wine-growing sections of California.

COUNTY TAXES UP 15¢ IN BUDGET OF 58 MILLION

Taxpayers must shoulder a 15-cent raise in basic county property taxes as a result of the record $57,954,000 budget adopted Monday by the Board of Supervisors.

Main increase comes from additional money budgeted for care of the sick and indigent residents of Alameda County. Welfare funds, hospital construction and operation, and health funds are included. A total of $12,177,069 goes for this item against $9,639,063 last year.

Actual tax rate was figured out by Auditor E. V. Waring. He based it on a county assessed valuation of $806,382,064. Last years' rate was $2.37 per $100 — this year's will be $2.52.

GIRL SCOUT MEET

Adult Girl Scout District of Washington Township meeting will be held at the Youth Center building in Newark, Friday, September 3 at 9:30 a.m.

J. V. Souza Dies

Joseph V. Souza, 77, a retired farmer and a resident of Mission San Jose most of his life, passed away August 31 at his residence on Palm Avenue after a long illness.

Souza leaves his wife, Agnes, a son Victor J. Souza of Modesto, two sisters, Mrs. Morris Silva and Mrs. Ed Callahan, both of Mission San Jose; and three grandchildren.

He was a native of San Miguel, Azores Islands and a member of Eagles of Alvarado.

Funeral services will be held Friday from Berge Mortuary, Irvington, with mass at St. Joseph's Church and interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Mission San Jose.

CAROLLING AROUND NEWARK

JEANNE & GENE CARROLL
NEWARK 3-3564

AROUND TOWN — Before it slips our minds, we want to congratulate our Little Leaguers who trounced their counterparts from Hayward 9 to 5. This has been a busy summer for the youngsters and Newark, because it has its own Recreation District, was able to maintain its own Little League this summer but outside competition was hard to find. Next year it would be wonderful to see teams in every town in the Township with inter-city competition keeping the interest high.

That reminds us of the "polio pioneers". We often think of these young 1st, 2nd and 3rd graders who received three shots of the Salk polio vaccine last May and June. Reports of the new polio cases are being publicized to stimulate the emergency March of Dimes drive, and Alameda County has reported 88 cases this year compared to 51 in 1953 (April 1 to August 21). With this increase, we can only hope the vaccine proves to be 100 per cent successful.

Man alive!! There's a lot of pushing and pulling in our good neighbor's (Centerville) effort to get protective zoning through the Supervisors. Seems to be a replay of the game Newark played in 1953. Newark won that game and the proposed shopping center site (Thornton, Mayhews Landing and Dairy) was nixed. The site is being used now for a school and homes. It's lost, and the downtown shopping area of Newark remains choked with homes and stagnates, except for a new gas station on the choicest corner location, a doubtful boon to retain merchants or the people.

We were checking on the impending election for Board of Trustees of the Newark Park, Recreation and Parkway District and wound up with nothing . . . howcum? Robert Amaral, secretary to the Board of Trustees, tells us that he is still waiting for the District Attorney's office to say: (1) who of the five members of the incumbent board members must stand for re-election and (2) when must applicants for the position file for election and (3) the date of the election. Amaral said that the questions have been in the hands of the D.A. for a month.

The railroad crossing at Haley Road is becoming more dangerous day by day as the Bulldog Pallet Company stockpiles lumber along the tracks, cutting visibility to practically zero. "Stop, look and listen" is a must here.

We have tipped off our readers a few times to parcels of land in Newark to be sold at public auction. This week we will mention six Decoto parcels that will be sold at a public auction at the Tax Collectors office in the Oakland Court House. Three are regular 50x100 foot level lots, and three are triangular lots of different sizes. The minimum prices . . . $11 to $131. Sale is September 15, 10 a.m. You're on your own!

That is the night before the Newark Model Busters hold their model meet at Washington High. Zooom, zowwwy, that will be a great show and Don Wood, president of the NMB expects to greet about 250 contestants from all over northern California.

It was great living in Oregon all summer as a change of pace but it was also great to come back home . . . that's the word from Dorothy Witcraft after her return from Redmond where she, her son, Dean and daughter, Veleta, enjoyed the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Eby. Merle Witcraft drove his family north and called for them.

Joe and Kate Reichmuth have been wandering around the Northwest, too, during the past two weeks and having a wonderful time, fishing, enjoying the scenery and visiting.

Frank and Vera Reichmuth, Vera's mother, Mrs. Rose Soares and Arlene Soares were also roaming around in the same general territory and they were together for some pleasant (though rainy) days up north.

We hear that at the recent election of officers for the 49er's Baton Twirler Corps that Wanda Rae O'Mara was elected secretary.

Bonnie Bimemiller surprised her husband, Ed, and their friend, Diana Dettmer, with a special birthday dinner last week. Ed's big day was the 25th and Diana's the 27th. Also present were: Eldon Taylor, Jack, Lois, Sandra and Candice Bimemiller.

Ed and Fran O'Mara had a wonderful night out last Tuesday. They mixed business with pleasure by attending the dinner meeting at the Fairmont Hotel, given by the Thor Appliance Manufacturers.

Mrs. Darlene Peters and her sons, Randy and Gary drove up to Sacramento last week where they enjoyed a few days visiting with one of Darlene's school chums.

Real good neighborliness was put on display last week when Mrs. Zelma Burleson dropped in on Bonnie Bimemiller for an afternoon cup of coffee and heard "happy birthday" called out by two other familiar voices belonging to Mrs. Mattie Lacey and Mrs. Bonnie Walden. Then the foursome proceeded to enjoy a cozy litlte party, complete with cake and a lovely remembrance for Zelma.

John F. Silva left home on August 23 bound for Santa Maria, Portugal. Silva returned to his homeland in the spring of 1953 and enjoyed the trip by air so much that he is making a repeat visit with his nephew, Anton Silva, at this time. He expects to stay until about the first of November.

Mrs. Wanda Trawick and daughters, Diane and Janice, had a wonderful trip back to Oklahoma City during the first two weeks of August. They were visiting Mrs. Trawick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Heffington, and other relatives. Mr. Trawick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Trawick of Hayward, accompanied as far as Arkansas.

Susie Mora, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Mora had a pesky appendix snipped out at Civic Center Hospital, Oakland, a week ago Friday and we hope she is feeling great again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Branco of Modesto were week-end guests of Mrs. Mary Caldeira.

Just like the amateurs we are, we fouled up our television programs and had baby Susan Marie Bohannon performing her arrival tricks on Channel 3. All the time the Bohannons had been tuned in on Channel 4. Susan's co-stars being Leona, Dale and Sharon.

Twin daughters, born twenty minutes apart, came to bless the Howard Rash home on Saturday, August 21. Roxann Marie, seven pounds ten ounces and Rochelle Grace, seven pounds nine ounces both measured 19½ inches, when they arrived at San Jose Hospital. Howard and Bernice Rash have three other children, Sharon, Dean and Tommy.

Wes and Wanda Sears and daughter, Linda, enjoyed a few days in Las Vegas last week when they drove Wanda's mother, Mrs. Ada Russell back home.

Guests of the Alex de Knoops on the previous Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farrington and daughter from San Rafael. Mr. Farrington is Mrs. de Knoop's brother.

Jim and Jeannette Nevis enjoyed having Jeannette's cousin, Mrs. Mabel Silva and her daughter, Carmen, from Honolulu, for weekend guests. After their visit, the Silvas left for Los Angeles where Carmen Silva will enroll in St. Mary's College, Westwood.

Mrs. Ben Vierra was thrilled on Monday, August 23 when she stood before a Federal Judge in the Main Post Office in San Francisco and took the citizenship oath along with nearly 300 other "Americans by choice". Joe and Rita Vierra, son Billy and Joyce Vierra accompanied her.

Jud Taylor, vice-principal of Washington High, his wife Vera and daughters Susan and Barbara, enjoyed a wonderful week relaxing at Camp Richardson, Lake Tahoe.

Robert and Clara Gibson and son Edward and their neighbor, Mrs. Pauline Thomas and son Terry have returned from a three-week trip to the northwest. Mrs. Thomas and Terry went to Portland where they visited relatives. The Gibsons went on to Vancouver, then inland to Hope, British Columbia visiting relatives and friends.

Ladies of the Presbyterian Church got together for a picnic at the Presbyterian Conference Grounds in the Valley of the Moon last Tuesday. It was a way of visiting with Mrs. Ethel Auchard, who has spent the summer cooking at the grounds.

August 24 was birthday party day for Buddy Michael, 6, and he enjoyed the ice cream and cake with Mrs. Jerry Hudson and children, Chris and Jeannette, Janice, Peggy, Shirley, Jimmie Kaye, and Dottie Barks, Mrs. Dorothy Pruett, James Eskew and his sister Sharon.

Shortie greetings are short this week but we find a few happy birthday carroll-o-grams on the wire . . . to sweet little Rita Cecelia Goularte who was two just yesterday . . . to Janice Lewis who was celebrating her twelfth birthday yesterday too . . . to Lyn Sammon who celebrated her fifth with a ice creamy party with a group of her little buddies on Monday, August 30 . . . to Josephine Beshears who has her day today . . . to Rodney Wood who celebrated his last week.

Happy anniversary greetings to Albert and Isabelle Lyons as they celebrated 37 years of happiness together on September 1.

The Newark Twirlabouts, an intermediate folk dancing group, will resume dancing at the Community Center at 8 o'clock tonight.

Ed and Burma Maughan and children, Marlene, Grant, Paul, Ranice and Beverly have returned from a wonderful three-week vacation in the mountains at Happy Camp near Yreka.

Mrs. Jean Runnels and children enjoyed a week visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Way in Quincy, California. The same week was a treat for Cindy, Judy, Becky and Jennie but Tony and Mark stayed on and will return in time for opening day of school.

Bob Lunsford started his 'hitch' of Army service on August 17 when he left for Fort Ord. Bob served with the local National Guard unit and enlisted for two years of service. Last Sunday found his dad and mom, Bob and Judy Lunsford and his brother, Don Ray, down at Ord on visitors day.

SUZY SEZ...

My favorite eleven-year-old says he doesn't mind breaking dirty dishes, but hates to drop 'em after he's washed 'em!

Among the classes offered at the evening high school should be one in salesmenship and pleasing the customer. There are at least twenty clerks in Township stores that need such a course.

She may call it "just a friendly game" but it got too serious for me when that bridge fiend almost had hysterics when her partner's mistake caused her to lose the hand.

Every family needs a finisher-upper. You know, that's the adult or child who eats the last dab of food, so there won't be any left-overs.

Many drivers, (mostly men), use their rear-view mirror only to spot on-coming police, so they can slow down to the speed limit.

Each year I have to spend more for school clothes, not only because the cost of living is going up but the children keep growing out of the cheaper small sizes, and into the more costly larger ones.

And then there's the story of the woman who looked over a new car at a Township dealer's show-room and commented there was one accessory she hadn't seen yet, and "Where is the depreciation?"

Maybe the reason some girls hang onto their date's hands so tightly is they're afraid they'll get away.

Say, how many of you noticed the "Centerville shot glass" on sale locally? It's a glass that holds at least a cup and a half.

Just in case you forgot, next week is the cooking school, so hunt out your favorite recipe and enter the contest.

Well, now that school is about to open you'll notice a decrease in the agitation for more recreation programs, until next summer, when it'll be too late, again.

We do need a better house numbering system in Washington Township. Just try finding a house in the 200 block of Blacow, or notice the two fourth streets in Irvington.

After a picnic I usually save the potato chips for use later in casseroles. When crushed, they add just the right touch to tuna.

Mix chopped green onion and parsley with the egg and mashed potato in your patties. It's good!

Please remember to drive carefully over the weekend. Don't make your children orphans.

So long . . .

Speaking of PUBLIC SAFETY

20,000 persons are duped to death each year by the fallacy that you are safer driving at night simply because there is less traffic.

Actually, you need only a glimpse of the traffic accident picture to realize how fallacious that reasoning really is.

Out of every hundred fatal accidents, 60 occur in the dark when only 25 of every 100 vehicles are operating. In addition to the 20,000 lives, the night toll last year was 900,000 injured and $1 billion of economic loss.

It is because of the greater danger of fatality at night that motorists are urged to observe special safety precautions after dark.

REDUCED SPEED: Driving at night should always be at speeds which permit stopping within range of headlight vision.

WATCH FOR SIGNAL CRASHERS: Never crash lights nor stop signs and don't ever move into an intersection until you have looked in both directions after the light has changed. Don't assume that a green light means safety! Too many drivers like to race through the red end of a light change.

PROPER VEHICLE LIGHTING: Headlights should be accurately focused, kept clean, and rear lights properly operating. Directional signal lights, both front and rear, aid in signaling but no driver at night should assume the mere act of signaling his intent will prevent an accident. He should never intersect traffic unless absolutely sure he has ample time to avoid a "close call".

DON'T DRIVE IF DROWSY: Night driving requires keenness of all faculties. Seconds save lives. If you feel sleepy, don't drive. Thousands of people are killed because either they or the drivers who hit them dozed for an instant.

AVOID ALCOHOL: Darkness which dulls vision and alcohol which slows mental and physical reactions is a deadly combination at night. If you must drink, for humanity's sake don't drive.

Motorists are urged to observe these precautions at night to compensate for the inadequate visibility which will continue to make night driving dangerous until street lighting is made adequate in cities and towns and on critical accident-prone areas of highways.

Enjoying themselves during the summer vacation from the Hawaiian Islands are the parents of Mrs. Tony Dutra.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cordeiro are proud of a new nephew, Nicholas James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Batteate.

Mr. and Mrs. Aurio Nieves and family returned recently after a long vacation in Mexico.

Decoto Boy Scout Troop No. 1 spent a week at Los Mochos in Livermore. Scoutmaster Shepherd chaperoned the boys. Committee volunteers assisted with transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Pacheco and son, Gary, of Honolulu spent several days visiting here with the J. J. Cordeiros.

Susie and Alonzo Ortega spent several days in Reno recently.

Motoring east to visit former Decoto residents, the Frank Scorpintis of Des Moines, Iowa, were Jack and Mae Soito, Frank and Ann Azevedo and daughter Roberta.

Our model airplane group, aged 9 to 16 years, will meet weekly at the Decoto School temporarily. In the near future permanent quarters will be at the Barnard School.

Mr. Warren of Decoto is organizer of this group and encourages others to join. Anyone interested may contact him or Henry Rivera, publicity chairman.

Meeting days are the 2nd and 4th Monday of every month.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vincent and son spent an enjoyable Sunday at San Francisco recently.

Harold Strauel, president of the Community Coordinating Council, announces Manuel Hidalgo of Decoto and Ray Marsh of Hillview Crest will run for Washington Township hospital board of directors.

Neal Kauffman, treasurer of the Community Coordinating Council announces that reminder letters are being sent for re-registration with the council. Dues will be collected by him at the Decoto School. Two delegates attend from each organization. Purpose of this council is to promote cooperation among organizations and individuals interested in the welfare of children and youth and in making the community a better place in which to live.

Twelve new street lights are to be erected soon in Decoto, made possible by the efforts of the Community Coordinating Council and Supervisor Chester Stanley. The lights which have been approved by PG&E are at: 8th and F Streets; 7th and F Streets; 8th and H Streets; 2nd and G Streets; 4th and G Streets; 2nd and D Streets; 9th and C Streets; 11th and E Streets; 12th and G Streets; 13th and H Streets; 6th and E Streets.

Rachel Hill had a slight setback but doing nicely now. Her son Harold Gene however could be doing a lot better as that old hand injury flared up again and Harold is back in a sling.

If I were a deer hunter I'd give up after seeing that huge buck Stanley Caires bagged the largest yet. Cappy Cunha also had a bit of luck and so did Mr. Hendricks plus Louie Souza.

According to Molly Steele and son Doug they never missed attending San Francisco's Ice Follies as they joined friends in doing just that Wednesday nite.

A trifle late but greetings to you Evie Harvey for your birthday which was a very happy one and what a super cake Cisey Wagner baked for you.

San Francisco zoo was the object of pleasure for Evelyn Lindsay and her children Thursday.

Sunday being Iris Lofton's day off, she spent it with Chuck Wiggins visiting Chuck's mom in Richmond.

The Mission Palms certainly came forth with a nice gesture as "Bill" served free home made doughnuts and coffee to all the Market Center Employees and even customers on opening day. Nice going Babe, Kay and Bill.

At least I wasn't the only one walking around with one eye this week as Elva Brayevich didn't have a shiner but oh brother just by rubbing it she broke a blood vessel.

There she goes again! Only this time Octavia joined a large group and took off to Reno for the weekend.

Playtime is over for Elsie Souza who has been camping out at Rond Mountain and is now back at Helen's Fountain.

Dell Stotts' family joined relatives Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Hoecker and daughter Judy of St. Joseph, Missouri on a delightful vacation visiting friends in Marin Co., on to Yosemite Park where they got in on some excellent trout fishing. But as Del told me his poor little daughter tagged "hard luck Anita" managed to get bitten by a horse and to top that off had her little fingers crushed in a car door. Despair? Not a bit! the whole family plus Anita managed to grin about it all.

HOT WEATHER MAINTENANCE OF PLANTS TERMED IMPORTANT

Since August is a warm weather month in many parts of California, the plants in your garden may well appreciate some "hot weather maintenance". The most important consideration is, of course, watering. And garden watering habits should vary according to the requirements of individual plants, points out the California Association of Nurserymen.

Camellias, for example, fuchsias and ferns would be among those plants that require high moisture levels. Roses, lawns, trees and vegetables often do best when watered deeply with intervening dry intervals. Very deep rooted shrubs, deciduous fruit trees and citrus profit by long, deep watering at regular intervals. Many drought resistant California natives require no summer watering at all in certain sections once they are established. Remember, though, that California has so many different soils and climates within its borders it is difficult to set down rules that will apply to the entire state. Always consult your local nurseryman when in doubt.

Where watering is a day to day task, the shallow rooted plants should receive first consideration on those days when your time is limited. In general it can be said that deep-green, fleshy-leafed plants require a lot of water, while gray-foliaged plants need less.

Watering in the late afternoon or evening will reduce moisture loss caused by evaporation. However, mildew is often prevalent at this time of the year in some sections. Where this is true, watering should be done early in the day, for mildew thrives on dampness combined with evening air. Mildew can be recognized as a whitish coating on the foliage. To get things under control before severe foliage loss results, ask your nurseryman for products containing lime sulphur in a form suitable for plants.

Be on the lookout for pests such as aphis, caterpillars and thrips during hot weather. These can be controlled by a number of products that your nurseryman will have on his shelves.

And while watering, keep your eyes open for the little jobs that can be done as you go along . . . snipping off infected leaves, dead flowers and awkward shoots. You'll get better and more continuous blooms if you keep dead blossoms trimmed off. Dwarf dahlias, cosmos, cornflowers, marigolds and petunias are among annuals that definitely require frequent trimming.

Now is the time, too, for a mid-season application of fertilizer for many growing plants. Fuchsias, chrysanthemums, bedding plants, lawns and fast blooming shrubs all will profit by a feeding. Seek your nurseryman's advice on this phase of summer gardening, too. Many gardeners being aware that California soils are generally deficient in nitrogen attempt to over-simplify fertilizing by correcting this factor alone.

You can prune blackberries now. Also carefully take up perennials that have finished blooming. Divide them into separate parts and immediately re-set them in fresh soil — watering well.

While you are busy watering, eliminating pests and fertilizing, take the long view of your garden. How well is it under control? Can changes be made to effect more casual, easier gardening — flowering shrubs used in certain locations to replace perennials and annuals, for example? Is your present overall garden plan satisfactory, so that you have plenty of eye-pleasing color and greenery at this time of the year? If not perhaps more Spring planting of shrubs and flowers will be required in future years.

Proper maintenance of your present plants and shrubs during this season and careful planning for future seasons can do much to increase year-round garden enjoyment.

Fennel seed is the dried fruit of a perennial herb of the parsley family.

County School Population Up 10,07 With Rural Districts Leading Way

Alameda County's school population jumped 10,073 during the past year for a grand total of 133,771, according to the average daily attendance figures for the year 1953-1954 released today by Vaughn D. Seidel, county superintendent of schools.

Largest percentage of school population increase was registered in the rural elementary schools where the over-all increase was 17% for a total of 30,093 students. Rural and suburban high school districts showed a 13% increase for a total of 6,976. City elementary schools had a 4% increase for a total of 69,522, whereas city high schools showed a decrease in attendance of 6%, with 23,524 students this year compared to 24,012 students in the previous year.

For all schools in the county, total elementary average daily attendance was 99,765 or an 8% increase. Total for the high schools of the county was 30,757, for a decrease of 2%.

Alameda County, which is second only to Los Angeles county in school population, increased its attendance rate in 1953-1954 by 7.5 percent.

The over-all decrease of attendance in the high schools can be attributed chiefly to the fact that the students presently enrolled were born in the late depression years when the birth rate nationally was at a low ebb. According to Dr. Seidel:

"Youngsters born during World War II and who are now attending elementary schools, will begin to surge into the high schools of the county in large numbers within the next two to three years. This should mark at least a ten-year period of great growth for the high schools in Alameda county."

Locally, attendance ran:

HOW TO KEEP FRESHNESS IN FROZEN FRUITS, BERRIES TOLD BY NILES MAN

"Any housewife in this area can freeze fruits and berries successfully, preserving all their garden fresh flavor," says James Ceciliani, owner of Niles Food Lockers in this city.

"The rules to follow for preparing fresh fruit for freezing are simple ones:

"Freeze fruit and berries (vegetables, too) the day they are picked to avoid loss of crispness, flavor, color and vitamins. If any delay is necessary, store fresh fruit in the refrigerator. Ceciliani also suggests freezing only fruits and berries that are picked table-ripe. Never underripe or overripe.

"Be sure to wash, sort and drain thoroughly. Halve and pit such fruits as apricots, peaches, plums, prunes and cherries (the latter are also frozen whole).

"Sweeten your juicy fruits with dry sugar, and the non-juicy fruits with a syrup made from sugar or corn syrup and boiling water. Chill before using. The most popular proportions of sugar to fruits are as follows:

Apples: 5 parts to 1 of dry sugar, or pack in 40 to 50 per cent syrup
Apricots: 3 to 6 parts to 1 of sugar, or pack in 40 to 50 per cent syrup
Cherries, Sour: 3 to 5 parts to 1 of sugar
Cherries, Sweet: Pack in 40 to 50 per cent syrup
Figs: Pack in 40 to 50 per cent syrup
Grapes: Pack in 40 per cent syrup
Melon, Cantaloupe and similar: Pack in 50 per cent syrup
Peaches: Pack in 50 to 60 per cent syrup
Pineapple: Pack in 60 to 70 per cent syrup
Plums, Prunes: Pack in 50 to 60 per cent syrup

"Berries are most tasty when sweetened in the following proportions:

Blackberries, Boysenberries, Loganberries (whole): Pack in 40 to 50 per cent syrup
Blackberries, Boysenberries, Loganberries (crushed or pureed): 3 to 4 parts to 1 of sugar
Blueberries, Huckleberries: 5 to 6 parts to 1 of sugar or pack (whole) in 50 per cent syrup
Cranberries (whole): 1 part to 1 of sugar or pack in 50 per cent syrup
Cranberries (pureed): 1 part to 1 of sugar
Currants, Gooseberries: 3 parts to 1 of sugar
Raspberries (black): 3 parts to 1 of sugar or 40 to 60 per cent syrup
Raspberries (red): 3 to 6 parts to 1 of sugar or pack in 40 to 50 per cent syrup.
Strawberries (whole): Pack in 50 to 60 per cent syrup
Strawberries (sliced or crushed): 4 to 5 parts to 1 of sugar

"To prevent darkening of fruits such as apples, apricots, cherries or peaches use an ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) preparation which may be purchased at any locker plant.

"Always pack fruits and vegetables in a good quality, moisture-vapor proof material and seal tightly. This is most important because when fruits or berries oxidize they lose their firmness, flavor and color. It is always wise to have fresh fruits and vegetables sharp frozen at your local locker plant before storing in your home freezer or food locker. Sharp freezing at temperatures of minus 30 to minus 40 degrees in circulating air quickly removes heat and thusly prevents breakdown of the delicate cell structures.

"While the ordinary home freezer does not reach low enough temperatures to provide sharp freezing, a partial quick freeze can be had by freezing small quantities at a time and placing the packages along the side walls of the freezer where temperatures are lowest and allowing plenty of space between packages for free circulation of air.

"Now that berries and fruits are plentiful in local markets and on our nearby farms, freezer owners can reduce their year's food bill considerably by freezing substantial quantities," Ceciliani points out.

SO. CO. RESERVES RECRUIT 28

The recruits begin a scheduled period of schooling next month at Washington Union High School. They are required to study three hours a week, one night a week, until they have completed 90 hours of work.

Instruction for the student reserves closely parallels the basic instruction of a regular police officer. The men learn procedures for criminal investigation, methods of note taking, study the laws of the area, and sharpen their shooting eyes at range practice. One phase of the instruction has the recruit accompanying regular sheriff's deputies on patrol duties.

Once the recruit completes his 90 hours of instruction he becomes a reserve deputy sheriff. He will be called to duty in all emergencies and disasters, will be used in all civilian defense activities, and in addition may be called to serve in lost-child searches, or to direct traffic for parades or other community gatherings.

The roster of recruits for the township includes:

James V. Sacco, Jr., and Martin Vieux, Irvington; J. H. Tipton, Alfred Freitas, Herbert E. Muellerleile, Joe Duffy, and Ray Schnatmyer, Mission San Jose; Manuel A. Garcia and John Taylor, Irvington;

John Souza, Niles; Martin Flores and Herman August, Centerville; Leo Kearney, Charles Plummer, Decoto; Joe Shestack, Alvarado; Victor Hernandez, Vincent Perez, Thomas H. Bigham, Joe Markovich and Hershel Meadows, Centerville;

Clifford E. Rogers, Niles; Herman Lambrecht, Centerville; Carl Anderson, Chris L. Garcia and George Straggas, Newark; Louis I. Rosenbaum and Charles Janeiro, Decoto.

Do you belong to the clean highway club? It's easy! Carry paper bags in your car in which to put trash. When filled deposit in convenient roadside receptles.

Extra-Special Super Treat

It's a rare housewife who hasn't asked herself, from time to time, "What can I serve that's extra-special?" Well, we have the answer to that one in this super-treat Chocolate Toffee Angel Cake. And it's so wonderfully easy to make, you'll "extra-special" the family many times over! Here's the recipe:

Chocolate Toffee Angel Cake

1¼ cups whipping cream
1 can (5½-oz.) thick chocolate syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 large 9½-inch angel food cake
1 pound English toffee, crushed

Whip cream until it starts to thicken; gradually pour in chocolate syrup and vanilla and beat until thick. Cut angel food cake into 3 crosswise layers. Spread whipped chocolate cream between each layer and sprinkle filling with half the crushed toffee. Frost top and sides of cake with chocolate cream and sprinkle with remaining toffee. Chill in refrigerator 6 hours or longer. Serves 12.

NOTE: To cut cake in equally thick, even layers use toothpicks as a guide; stick the picks around sides of cake at measured intervals.

A DECLARATION

Here's where we start by flipping our lid and end by drawing a moral. Stick with us for the moral — it means a lot to every reader.

Few Townshippers can spare the time to go to Oakland and attend the meetings of the Planning Commission and the Supervisors. As Supervisor Bartell says, nobody invites us there anyway. However when there's something important doing, this newspaper tries to cover those far-away meetings. Last Thursday we covered one that really touched bottom.

Centerville has been trying to get protective zoning for more than five years. Local residents had come to the conclusion that zoning is what they need, and after threshing it out on the local level, they sent their pleas along to their county representatives. Last March, hearings started in Oakland.

The thing got kicked back and forth, back and forth, until last Thursday the Supervisors had to make a decision: shall we give Centerville the zoning it wants?

One promoter from Oakland entered a protest. His optioned property wasn't zoned as he wanted it, and he wasn't willing to wait for rezoning later. There were others whose land wasn't zoned exactly as they wanted it either, but they kept silent, sacrificing their immediate interest so that the town would get the protection it had sought so long.

Supervisor Bartell, the public paladin, pulled his familiar delaying tactic in defense of the promoter. Although Bartell lives in Alameda, he again presumed to know what's best for Washington Township. To the shame of Supervisor Stanley, who does represent the Township, he made only a weak and fence-straddling case for Centerville. In the absence of a local champion, the vote of the key Supervisor was allowed to be cast in confusion, and zoning once more was set back.

There is a mighty moral to be drawn, and it is this: unless the towns of Washington Township come up with positive leadership and some inclination to rule their own destiny, Washington Township will be in for years of this type of stepchild-treatment. The interests of the people at large will continue to be subordinate to those of any exploiter who can pay the fee.

Already Hayward is reaching south to take over our rich subdivision land. Industrial sites will be next. Before we know it, the very heart of the Township will be torn out and peddled for a dollar.

How long will our men and women stand idly by, engrossed in their own concerns, and see this happen? Where is the pride that prompted the Township's founding forefathers to wring this fertile paradise from swamp and wilderness? Has Township blood been diluted to dishwater? Is delay and debate the best we can offer to destiny?

This is a declaration of war. We declare war on the exploiters of our home. We resolve to unite those who will rise in self-defense. This newspaper volunteers to serve as a rallying-point. Our battle-cry, now and henceforth, is "The Township For The Townshippers," and our aim is self-government, or cityhood, at any price.

Are you with us?

WE MUST HAVE OUR SHARE

There is no tug-of-war between Centerville and Alameda over whether State funds should be diverted from the Freeway to build a second Alameda tube.

The issue is not that simple. Our friends in Alameda are entitled to another outlet. We in the Township merely contend that the State shouldn't allocate money just for that project, and then feel that it has done its duty by this county and that the rest of our highways can wait.

When the State's Collier-Burns Act went into effect five years ago, it set up a system of allocating State road funds. A list of "deficiencies" was created for each county by the State engineers. The counties were to be granted annual gas-tax funds on the basis of this list. Sixty percent of the annual funds was to be allocated strictly according to the deficiencies and forty percent at the discretion of the State Highway Commission.

During the past five years, some counties have received as high as 200 percent of this last-mentioned "free money". Others — notably Alameda County — have received less than their fair share. Alameda County, with one of the most critical highway problems in the State, with the SECOND-LARGEST POPULATION of any county in California, received only 87 percent of its due, in some years as low as 50.

We submit that this is shortsighted, arbitrary, unjust and odious to a county whose gas-tax contributions are as high as ours. Speaking for Southern Alameda County, we further submit that if the State would come through with what's coming to us, we could build NOT ONLY the new Alameda tube, but the remaining link in the Eastshore Freeway which is so vital to our growth, our safety, and our general welfare.

The Freeway through West Oakland must be finished. But rights-of-way MUST be bought this year for the Warm Springs-Mt. Eden link. Next year, funds must be earmarked for construction work here. Common-sense and common fairness demand it. We shall not be silent until it is done.
